

IISMUN'17 – IISians Don the Diplomat's Hats

The morning of Friday, 13th May IIS witnessed delegates from across borders to be an integral part of the second edition of IISMUN. During this conference, the Secretariat members ensured a jubilant journey throughout. Along with this elated intellectual ride, the esteemed delegates came up with broadened horizons, enriched knowledge and intelligent debates. Delegates, with an enriched experience of two days, where there was immense learning, understanding and procuring a great deal of inspiration, and above all, enhancement of leadership skills had much to their kitty. This conference is an effort to resolve international issues and IIS is pretty sure the distinguished delegates will attain an overwhelming triumph. The delegates walked into their committees with an air of freshness and walk out satiated after indulging in rigorous debating tackling several issues. This is the time when today's youth can strive and thrive for a change. This is the time when only we can build up our nation to its best and only we can uplift our fallen comrades. Through this conference, only those who risked going too far, could possibly find out how far one could go. This exhilarating experience will serve as a reservoir of cherished memories all through the summer break.
