

A Tribute to Parents on Mothers' Day

To commemorate Mothers' Day, Scholar of the international wing invited the Father as well, because it's the father that compliments this relationship. The bond of parenthood is so sacred, this was felt when scholars and parents opened out their heart with a spontaneous overflow to emotional tears fell from both ends. The scholars displayed their versatility in the form of literary and cultural activities. The short and crisp program ended with light refreshment and interaction. God Bless every parent may every scholar experience the bless of their blessings always.
