

Welcome IIS Petals

The new session initiated with a welcome note from the Principal Ms. Mala Agnihotri who welcomed and congratulated the IIS petals on climbing yet another rung of success. The Principal motivated them, briefing them on the new developments of the school. The theme for this year being 'Human Commonality'. All departments were asked to explore the theme as all activities for the session would be based on this theme.

What was most alluring was, "Khelo IIS" where each class will be allotted extra periods for games, where every IISian will actively participate in some sport or the other. We realise how important it is to have a healthy mind and a healthy body, how significant it is that academics go hand in hand with building up on life skills that is only possible in the field. The sports department was congratulated on bringing about this revolution. In order to inculcate the feeling of House spirit, the onus of conducting the assembly was given to the Sunflower House. The excitement of the scholars was in equal reciprocation with the excitement of getting back in the midst of friends. This new venture has not only exposed them to a new challenge, but it has opened doors for innovation making them more responsible, triggering their hidden inhibition and inert potential. IIS will now open up to a potpourrie of talent.
